Immediate resistance lies near 1,976.46, while support remains around 1,821.49. The MACD is at -7.80, indicating a bearish trend. However, the RSI suggests a potential consolidation in the near term. Traders should watch for a breakout above 1,976.46, which could lead to a target of 2,000, while a breakdown below 1,821.49 could result in a decline to 1,700.

Risk Factors

The current market trend is characterized by overbought conditions in several assets, including the NIFTY, Gold, and Silver. This suggests a potential correction in the near term, which could be triggered by various factors, including economic data releases, geopolitical events, or unexpected market news. Additionally, the bearish divergence in Bitcoin's MACD indicates a potential reversal in the cryptocurrency's trend.

Trading Opportunities

Traders can consider the following opportunities:

- Long NIFTY above 24,774.30, targeting 25,000
- Long BANKNIFTY above 58,247.95, targeting 59,000
- Long Gold above 4,325.50, targeting 4,400
- Long Silver above 63.02, targeting 65
- Long Bitcoin above 65,760.48, targeting 70,000
- Short Ethereum below 1,821.49, targeting 1,700

Tomorrow Outlook

The market is expected to be volatile tomorrow, with several economic data releases scheduled. Traders should watch for potential breakouts or breakdowns in the assets mentioned above, and adjust their positions accordingly. The overbought conditions in several assets suggest a potential correction, while the bullish momentum in others indicates a potential continuation of the uptrend. As always, traders should exercise caution and consider their risk tolerance before making any trading decisions.
